

To future homeowner of a Brown Development home:

I purchased my new home in September of 2012 from Greg Brown. The first day I met Greg and we began the process I felt comfortable with his personal attention and he never rushed me with millions of questions. He personally answered all of my concerns and question in fact offered to meet as many times as I needed to be comfortable.

I am a long time resident here on Maui and know many great builders in the islands and in fact some have built other homes for me on west Maui. I chose this home Greg had built because I liked the quality of the workmanship and materials used in the home and I believed Greg and Brown Development would stand behind their home. As time has passed, I was right. All new homes have warranty issues that must be addressed.

All the items on the warranty and punch list were addressed professionally and promptly. I believe a successful business and in this case Greg Brown the builder, must have a great team backing them up with their customers. Greg has built a wonderful team of quality trades, office personnel, and the supervisors who just get it done - a very refreshing, fun way to start out in a wonderful new home.

I would recommend to my family and friends that they must consider a Greg Brown home when looking for a quality custom builder. I believe they're good builders on Maui, however sometimes hard to find the right builder who will be there after the sale to make it right. Greg and his team have stood up to the test. I really love my new home and hope I do not need another in the near future. However, if I build again Greg Brown is who I will contact for a new home.

Sincerely,

M. Hecks
