(i) Lead-Based Paint. Federal Law requires that the seller of any interest in residential real property must provide the buyer with any information on lead-based paint hazards from risk assessments or inspections in the seller's possession and notify the buyer of any known lead-based paint hazards. Residential dwellings built prior to 1978 may present exposure to lead from lead-based paint that may place young children at risk of developing lead poisoning. Lead poisoning also poses a particular risk to pregnant women. More information is available at the EPA website.

(j) Lead-Based Paint Renovation, Repair, and Painting. In residential real property, the EPA under the Toxic Substance Control Act issued a rule to address lead-based paint hazards created by renovation, repair, and painting activities that disturb lead based paint. These rules establish requirements for training renovators, other renovation workers, dust sampling technicians, and renovation firms; for accrediting providers of renovation and dust sampling technician training to meet the new Federal requirements effective as of April 22, 2010, or substantial penalties may apply. The rule applies to paid contractors working in pre-1978 housing (residential, public or commercial buildings and all rental housing), child care facilities and schools with lead-based paint. Contractors include home improvement contractors, maintenance workers in multi-family housing, painters, and other specialty trades. Federal law may require that Buyer be provided with The Lead-Safe Certified Guide to Renovate Right: Important Lead Hazard Information for Families, Child Care Providers, and Schools pamphlet. More information is available at the EPA website.
